CODE OF CONDUCT FOR STUDENTS

1. Preamble

To maintain and promote the excellence and integrity of the University of Jaffna and to attain its vision “to be a leading centre of excellence in teaching, learning, research and scholarship” the following Code of Conduct, which sets forth the general principles, is recommended.

These principles have been derived from universally accepted norms of ethical conduct, State laws and regulations, and University policies and procedures laid down by the University Grants Commission (UGC). Every member of the University shall, at all times, conduct his or her activities in accordance with the highest professional and community standards prescribed in the Code.

2. What is a Code of Conduct?

A Code of Conduct is a set of ethical or moral principles that guide a person’s conduct. These principles are shaped by social norms, cultural practices and religious convictions and influences. They serve as norms to direct how individuals should treat each other, and understand and fulfil their obligations to society.

The Code of Conduct is a basic and fundamental set of principles of decent human conduct. It includes universal values such as the essential equality of all individuals, human and natural rights, obedience to the law of the land, concern for health and safety and, increasingly, the natural environment.

2.1. Scope of the Code of Conduct

This Code of Conduct applies to all members of the University of Jaffna, comprising students and academic, non-academic and administrative staff. It is thus expected that every member of the University shall, at all times, adhere to the highest standards prescribed in the Code.

2.2. Purpose of the Code of Conduct

As an institution dedicated to the search for truth through teaching, learning, research and scholarship, the University of Jaffna is committed to serving society and the country by making integral citizens of its members. The purpose of the Code of Conduct is to emphasize the essential features of a decent and responsible environment in which the central educational goals of the University are met effectively and efficiently. The Code is designed to bring together all members of the University and appeals to each of them to undertake his/her responsibilities with diligence and professionalism and to comply with the highest standards of honesty, integrity and fairness, thus not placing their personal interests above the best interests of the University.

2.3. Limitations of the Code of Conduct

Given the diversity and complexity of norms and issues, the Code can serve only as a general guide. When confronted with ethically ambiguous situations and queries, the individual concerned shall keep in mind the commitment of the University to the highest standards and therefore seek advice from appropriate sources to ensure that this commitment is achieved at all times.

2.4. Objectives of the Code of Conduct

The University is committed to upholding the highest norms of conduct and integrity in all its affairs and at all levels. To this end, this Code of Conduct serves:

- to support the goals, mission and vision of the University, and avoidance of conflict of interest
- to respect and comply with the Laws and Regulations of the University
- to conform with all contractual and grant terms and conditions
- to maintain the highest standards of academic integrity
- to respect the rights and dignity of others
- to maintain and preserve accurate records
- to conduct business practices with honesty and integrity
- to have concern for health and safety
- to respect the environment
- to report suspected violations

2.5. A Summary of the Code of Conduct

The Code of Conduct for the University of Jaffna is meant to promote the generation of ethically responsible citizens through adherence to the highest standards of academic integrity and ethical conduct. As a member of the community of the University of Jaffna, each student and member of staff shall maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity. Therefore, the code of conduct solicits the students and members of staff to abide by this code for the smooth functioning and well-being of the University Community. The scope of the code specifies the members of the University Community who come under the purview of this code.

Code of Conduct for Students of the University of Jaffna

1. Introduction

The University of Jaffna sanctions as a basic principle of University life, the concept of responsible student freedom, which carries with it the recognition by each student of the rights and obligations of other members of the University. The University encourages students to conduct themselves as mature individuals. The University also expects its students to abide by the laws of the State, norms of natural justice, social norms and generally accepted moral standards. The University is apprehensive of student actions that are inconsistent with obligations to the university community. When, in the opinion of the University, the conduct of a student at any place is culpable or detrimental to the best interests of that student, his/her fellow students, or the University, the University shall take appropriate disciplinary action.

The University is also concerned with the conduct of students outside the physical boundaries of the campus. It expects that reason and responsibility characterize student conduct at all places and at all events. The University, however, recognizes the freedom of the students as mature individuals. The philosophy of the University concerning student freedom is that individual freedom is the right of all students subject to its being responsible freedom to be and to become. The rules, regulations, traditions and principles of the University, accepted by each student in his or her voluntary registration, evolve from the core of the concept of indivisibility of freedom and responsibility. Thus, it is assumed that the student who voluntarily registers at the University does so with the intention of being, in fact, and in spirit, a cooperating member of the university community. Great responsibility rests on the students for their own conduct. They should be mindful of the expectations of the University regarding their academic and social conduct. A student who has been disciplined for breach of the Code of Conduct shall not be allowed to graduate until all academic and social sanctions against him/her are rectified.

The Code of Conduct for Students aims to stimulate ethical responsibility in students and future professionals through adherence to the highest norms of academic integrity and ethical conduct. As a member of the university community, each student shall maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity. The student shall strive for these standards in his/her expressions, and academic pursuits and show respect for the property and rights of other individuals.

2. Scope

The provisions of the Code of Conduct apply to all categories of students of the University: internal, external, undergraduate and postgraduate. Each student is expected to uphold the specific principles described in the Code of Conduct and shall actively support it.

3. General Guidelines of the University Grants Commission

The following text is quoted from the University Student Charter released by the UGC in 2012: “Undergraduate students of all state universities are required to refrain from engaging or committing the following Unethical and Unlawful Activities which will result in disciplinary action by the institution and punitive action by the Police and Courts of Law.”

“The Police has been empowered by the Prohibition of Ragging and Other Forms of Violence in Educational Institutions Act, No. 20 of 1998 to take punitive action against the offenders through the Court of Law. The university administrations have been empowered through the UGC Circular No. 919 of 15th January 2010 which sets strict guidelines to curb the menace of ragging in the Universities/Higher Educational Institutes, to take stern action against those who commit any one of the unethical and unlawful activities listed below. Further, the UGC has given instructions through UGC Circular No. 902 of 1st December 2008 to all universities to make offenders accountable for any damages to the university property and charge the cost of damages from the responsible individuals or, reduce the cost of damages from the allocations made to student societies and councils.

“Therefore, the punishment that would be imposed by the university may range from recovering damages and/or issuing a warning letter to temporary suspension for a period of time from academic work and/or university residential facilities and expulsion from the university in addition to the punishments imposed by a Court of Law.”

4. What does the University of Jaffna Expect to Provide to its Students?

1. The University of Jaffna is a community of individuals, comprising students and staff, each with rights and responsibilities and commitments that help determine the ability of the University to sustain and enhance its main role of teaching, learning, serving the community and research.

2. Thus, it functions as the guardian of all its students and shall be prompt, effective and courteous in its dealings with students while being authoritative in maintaining academic standards, ensuring ethical and moral conduct of the students, and promoting ethnic and social harmony.

3. The University shall provide clear and timely information in written and/or web-based forms on the broader aims of the study programmes, choices of courses/modules/units available and the objectives, intended learning outcomes and contents and assessment methods and criteria.

4. The University shall provide essential core knowledge and skills through blends of teaching and training methods, namely formal classroom lectures, laboratory and field practical sessions, web-based and online teaching and training lessons, and through student assignments and projects.

5. The University shall ensure that all students have full access to library facilities, language teaching and computing services, and career guidance services, including opportunity to acquire soft skills and/or transferable skills to become well-rounded individuals.

6. The University shall ensure that all students receive a variety of student support services including accommodation, healthcare, recreational facilities, facilities to conduct social and cultural events, counselling services in academic matters and assistance in learning, in relation to financial and emotional issues, and matters of safety and security.

7. The University shall ensure that all students conduct themselves according to Rules and Regulations laid down by the university and act according to norms expected of law-abiding, civic-conscious citizens.

8. The University shall ensure that any wrongdoing by failing to abide by the Code of Conduct promulgated by the University is dealt with promptly by a fair and efficient inquiry process, and punishment such as a warning, withdrawal of residential facilities provided, temporary suspension of studentship, or expulsion from the University shall be imposed on any offender.

5. What does the University of Jaffna Expect of its Students?

Based on the above general guidelines, the Code of Conduct for the students considers the following to be seriously unethical and unlawful activities.

6.1.4. Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct is any act besides the above said that disrupts the educational process or provides a student with an undue academic advantage over another. It can include unauthorized possession, copying, distribution, sale or transfer otherwise of all or part of an academic exercise, or answers or solutions to an academic exercise; unauthorized entry of any University building, facility, office or other property and accessing any computer file or other University record or storage in order to obtain the answers or solutions to an academic exercise or to change an examination mark or grade; bribing anyone to obtain an academic exercise; and posting of notes or other material of a class on the Internet, without express permission from the member of the Academic Staff concerned.

It is strictly forbidden to canvass or solicit in elections within or outside the University using means in violation of the democratic processes.

6.7. Possession and Consumption of Alcohol, Narcotics and Tobacco

The consumption of alcohol, narcotics and tobacco is generally resented in Sri Lankan society as it can have adverse effects on health, mind and human conduct and thus diminish one's mental and physical capacities. Thus the state universities adopt codes of practice that forbid the possession and consumption of alcohol, narcotics and tobacco within university premises. Hence, students are strongly urged to refrain from bringing such substances into or using within any premises of the University, and not to enter university premises under the influence of alcohol and/or narcotics. Such acts shall not be tolerated under any circumstances.

6.9.3. Student Conflicts

All students of the University are obliged to avoid activities or situations that may give rise to conflict. In such a context, the student(s) concerned should take steps to pre-empt conflict. A student who is aware of a potential conflict should notify his/her Head of Department or Dean of Faculty and explore ways of averting the conflict. Upon determination that a conflict is likely, appropriate action shall be taken by the Head or Dean with support from University authorities by way of recusal, reassignment or other means to avert the conflict or resolve it in the event of its emergence. No action shall be taken without an opportunity for parties concerned to be heard to establish that potential for conflict exists and action needs to be taken.

6.9.4. Discrimination and Harassment

Violation of the rights of individuals motivated by race, ethnicity, caste, gender, age, marital status, sexual orientation, religious belief and affiliation, disability, political belief and allegiance, and other discriminatory factors identified by the University as unethical is strictly forbidden.

6.10. Ragging

Universities are havens for the independent pursuit of academic excellence. Ragging diminishes the independence of students and hinders the achievement of academic excellence. Ragging is now a criminal offence under the Prohibition of Ragging and Other Forms of Violence in Educational Institutions Act (referred to hereafter as Anti-Ragging Law) of 1998. However, ragging persists in many national universities. While the prospect exists of ragging being induced by vested interests within or outside the University, ragging, whether on or off campus, is strictly forbidden. Ragging, whether by an individual or by a group, comprises acts of physical, mental, emotional or psychological cruelty which subjects another individual, voluntarily or involuntarily, to abuse, mistreatment, degradation, humiliation, harassment or intimidation; and includes among others the following acts perpetrated on an individual or individuals.

- (i). Forcing to perform and/or engage in demeaning or humiliating acts;
- (ii). Bullying, coercing or intimidating;
- (iii). Creation of excessive physical or mental fatigue;
- (iv). Causing physical or psychological shock;
- (v). Forcing to wear clothing which is conspicuous or in bad taste;
- (vi). Forced engagement in morally degrading or humiliating acts, games or activities;

- (viii). Body marking/painting or any other intrusion that is inconsistent with the policy of the University and could adversely affect the mission of the University and tarnish its image.

Any such incident shall be reported to the Police for necessary action under the Anti-Ragging Law of 1998, while the University shall also take appropriate disciplinary action. (UGC Circular No. 919 of 15th January 2010)

6.11. Sexual Harassment/ Misconduct

The university student population is mixed, with comparable proportions of adult males and females. Engagement in sexual activity cannot in practice be restricted except on moral and ethical grounds. Notwithstanding all moral, ethical and religious values instilled in human beings, there are individuals who force their will on others causing sexual harassment and misconduct. If a complaint is received against any individual coming under the university administration of committing an act of sexual harassment or misconduct by attempting to impose his/her sexual desires on another, be one of the opposite sex or of the same sex, the action shall be taken under the law of the land as well as the disciplinary code of the University to bring the offender to justice.

Appropriateness and decency in dressing are expected. Any misconduct forbidden by the University, the State, and local customs and culture is unacceptable.

6.12. Theft

Stealing physical goods as well as intangible assets such as intellectual property such as plagiarism is a punishable offence under civil law as well as under University Disciplinary Procedure. Removal of any item of goods or property belonging to the University, or any member of the University and continued undisclosed knowledge of such theft are serious offences, and if found guilty the offender could suffer the consequences over his/her entire career. Thus, students are urged to be transparent and honest in their dealings, including proper citation or acknowledgement of sources of the information that they use.

6.13. Vandalism

Vandalizing University property or inducing others to do so shall be dealt with under the law of the land on public property and privately held assets and under University Regulations. Damage due to vandalism to furniture and fittings in classrooms and hostels, laboratory equipment, computers and accessories, and sports equipment shall be charged to the students responsible if they are found guilty. In the event of vandalism resulting from student agitation, the replacement cost and penalties will be charged to the organizers of the agitation; and in case of isolated acts of vandalism the students who were formally authorized by the organizers to occupy or use the property, shall be held responsible and be liable to pay compensation for the damage.

6.14. Trespass

Universities have restrictions about who may use their assets. Normally all students have unrestricted access to all educational facilities during working hours and to sports and recreational facilities during allocated hours. Students have unlimited access to their hostels but visitors are not permitted without the approval of the warden of the hostel. Restrictions could be imposed on access to public areas under special circumstances including security concerns. Students of any university who wish to visit another university shall obtain permission from the authorities of both universities. Any trespasser is liable to prosecution under the law of the land and is dealt with under the disciplinary code of the University.

It is strictly forbidden to organize events or activities in the University campus areas without due permission from the appropriate authority. Students are denied entry to and/or occupation of any building or land of the University unless already authorized or granted prior permission from the appropriate authority.

7. Co-operation with Authorities and Committees of Inquiry:

The University appoints committees of inquiry on disciplinary matters, and empowered officers could summon students to give verbal or written evidence. On such occasions, students are required to cooperate with the authorities. If students refuse to cooperate in any way or resist action taken by the authorities, their conduct could be construed as an act of disregard for university authority and may become the cause for further disciplinary action. Students are thus strongly advised to cooperate with the authorities whenever requests for information are made.

A student shall not, willingly or otherwise, assist any individual or group to breach or attempt to breach the Code of Conduct. A student who is aware of a violation of the Code or an attempt to violate the Code is required to dissociate with such acts, and failure to do so could be construed as being party to a violation or attempted violation of the Code.

8. Right of Appeal

The right of appeal up to the level of the Supreme Court is enshrined in the Fundamental Rights of all citizens, and that principle applies to the University. Thus one can appeal to the Vice Chancellor against a decision by the disciplinary authorities on any matter. The appeal may be individual or collective and the Vice Chancellor shall enable a fair hearing for the appeal through appropriate channels.

9. Breach of Code of Conduct

Any breach of the Code of Conduct shall be dealt with under the By-laws of the University Student Charter in keeping with the Student Disciplinary Procedures and as amended by the relevant UGC Circulars.

10. Available Student Disciplinary Procedures

- University Student Charter released by the UGC in 2012
- UGC Circular No: 946 of 10th February 2011(Common Guidelines on Student Discipline)
- UGC Circular No. 919 of 15th January 2010 (Guidelines to curb the menace of ragging in the Universities / Higher Educational Institutes)

- UGC Circular No: 20 of 02nd February 1998 (Prohibition of Ragging and Other Forms of Violence in Educational Institutions)

11. Conclusion

The Code of Conduct hereby urges students to cooperate and contribute to enabling the University of Jaffna to play its mandatory role and to contribute to preserving and sustaining the core values and principles of the institution.
